Russia Upholds Status Quo in the Sea Change

Presentation at the Georgia and Peaceful
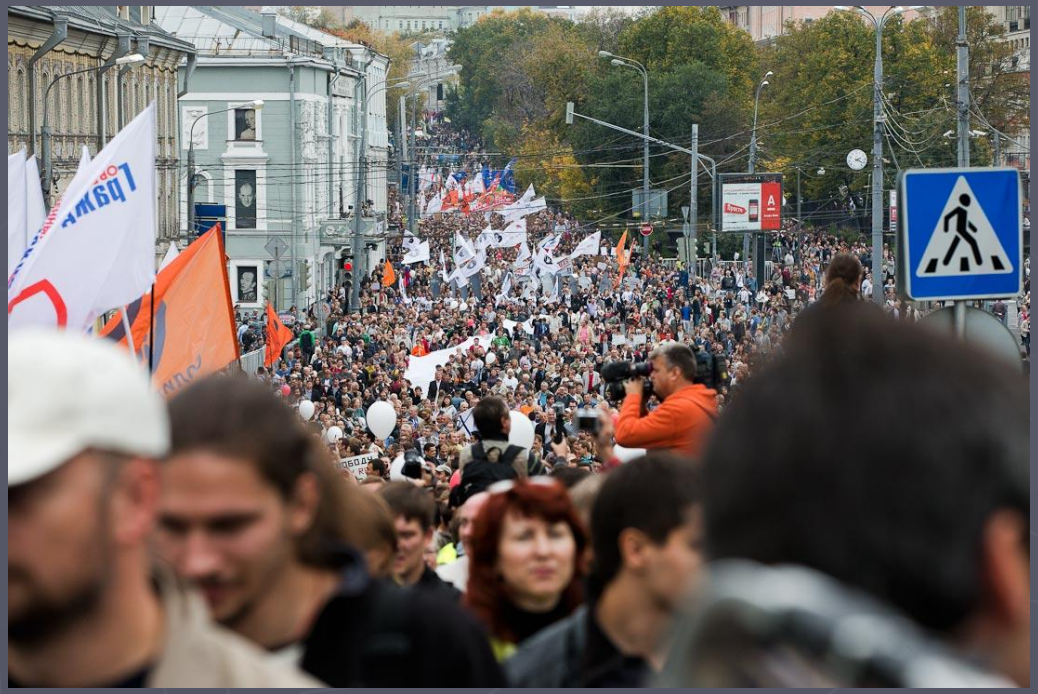
Conflict Resolution

Diplomatic Academy, Vienna



Dr. Pavel K. Baev,
Research Professor,
Peace Research Institute, Oslo (PRIO)

Check my weekly column in Eurasia Daily Monitor
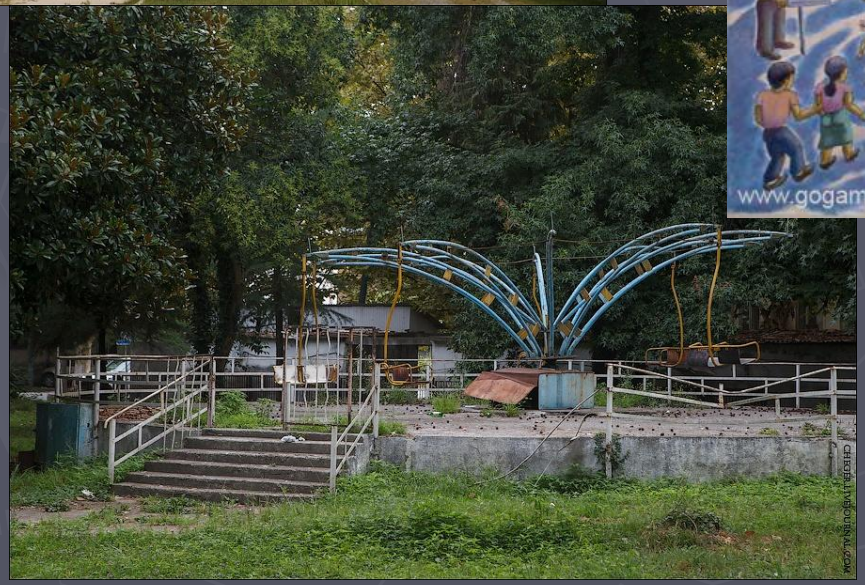
(http://www.jamestown.org/programs/edm/)

Georgia and the North Caucasus

The real war and the war games

The only thing that matters

Abkhzia deserves better



Conflict mismanagement

Where it all comes from

I have considered the initial reaction of our American partners. The first thing that Secretary of State Clinton did was to provide an assessment of the elections by saying that they were unfair and unjust, even though she had not yet received the OSCE report. She set the tone for some of our political figures within the country, she sent a signal. They heard the signal and with the support of the State Department, they began their active work.

The end of Perezagruzka

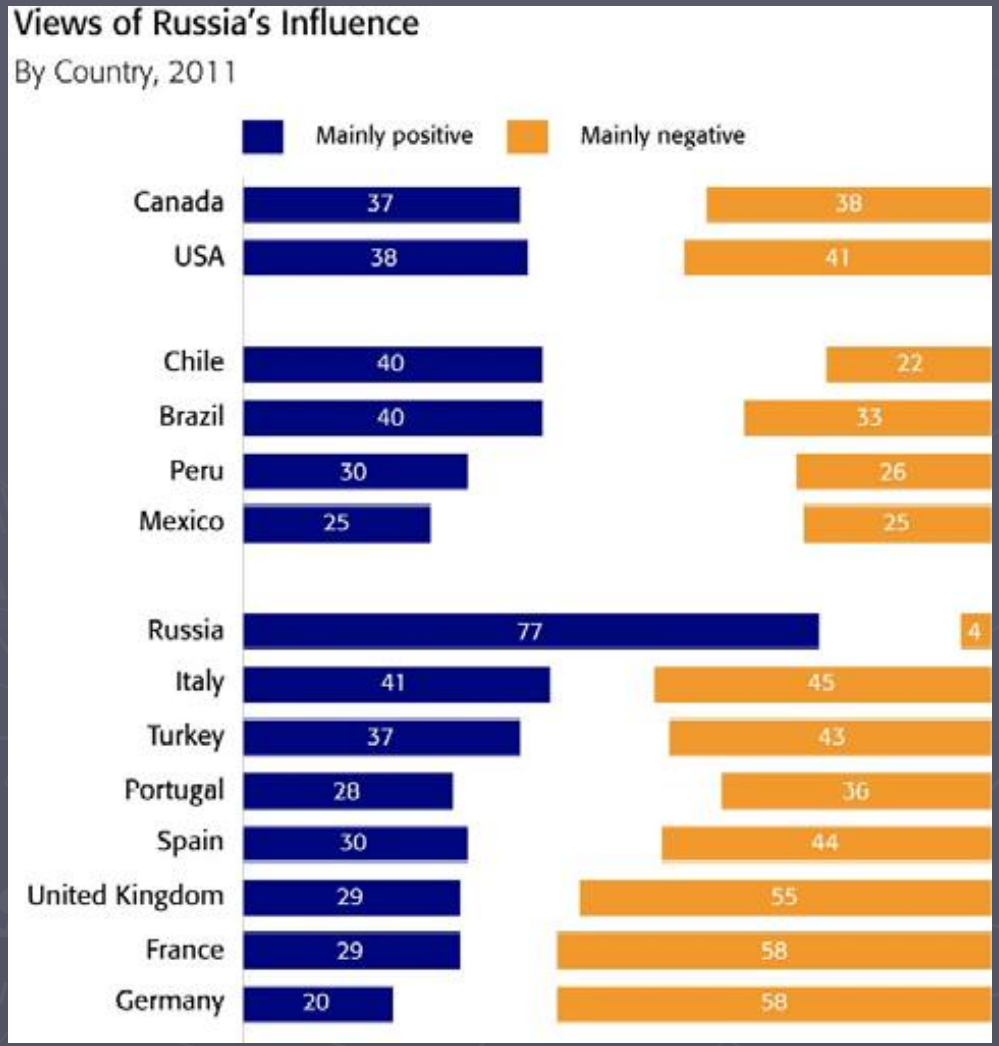
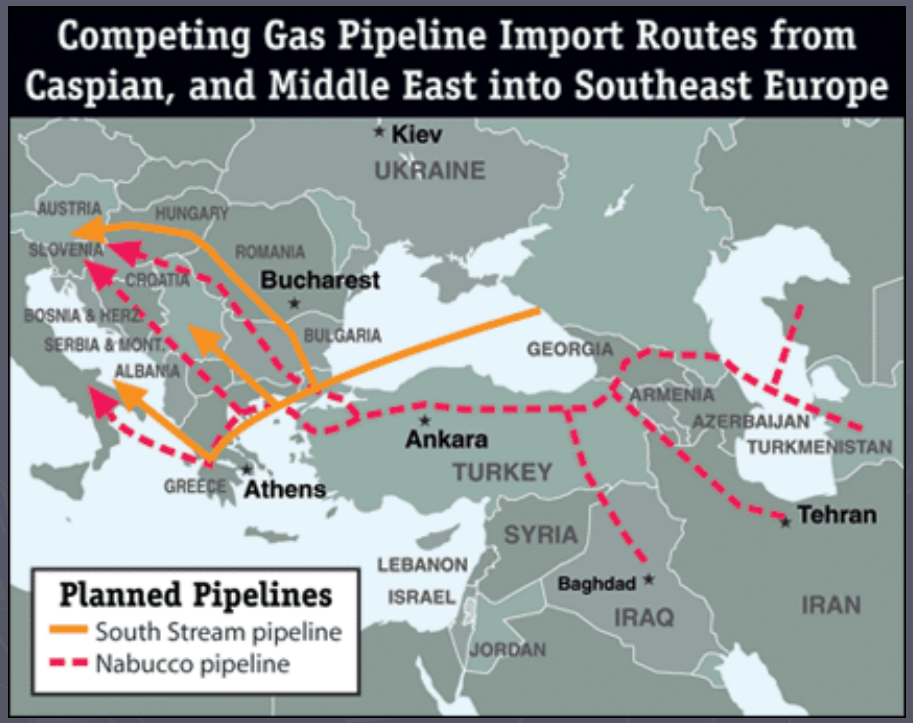
It looks like NATO, and first of all the USA, has developed a particular understanding of security, fundamentally different from ours…

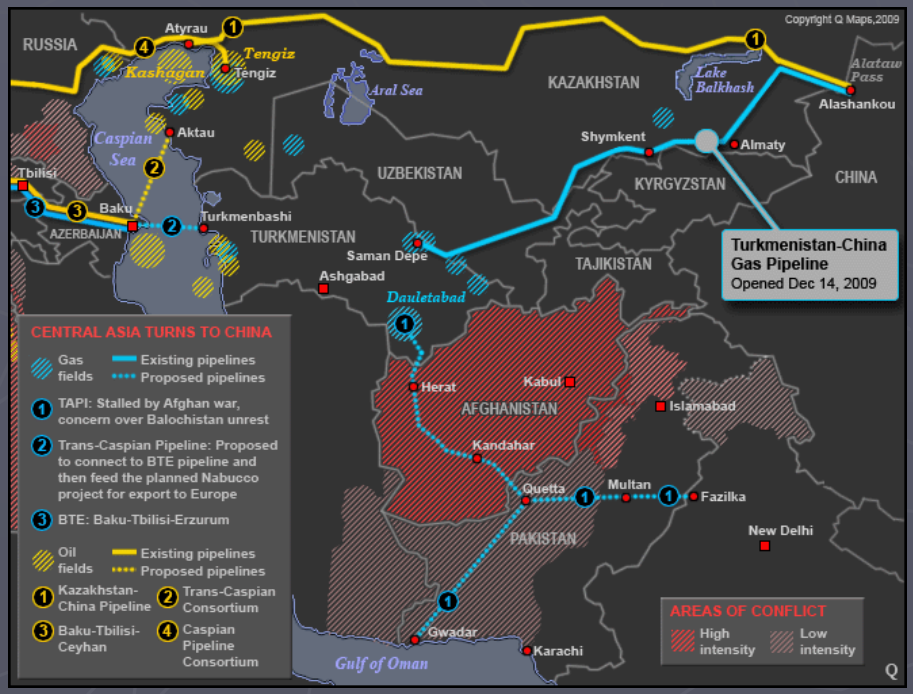
A chain of armed conflicts justified by humanitarian aims undermines the historically sacred principle of state sovereignty.

Moskovskie novosti, 27 February

What “beautiful friendship”?







The race of pipelines is over